Frequency: Frequency is the number of vibrations made by the vibrating body in one second. It is measured in Hertz (Hz). The SI unit of frequency is Hertz (Hz).

Period: The time taken for the vibrating body to complete one vibration is called its period. The SI unit of period is second (s).

Sound waves enter the ear: Sound waves enter the ear through the outer ear. They travel through the ear canal and hit the eardrum.

The eardrum vibrates: The eardrum vibrates in response to the sound waves. These vibrations are passed on to the ossicles (small bones) in the middle ear.

The ossicles vibrate: The ossicles vibrate and amplify the sound. They then pass the vibrations on to the cochlea in the inner ear.

The cochlea sends signals to the brain: The cochlea sends signals to the brain, which interprets them as sound.

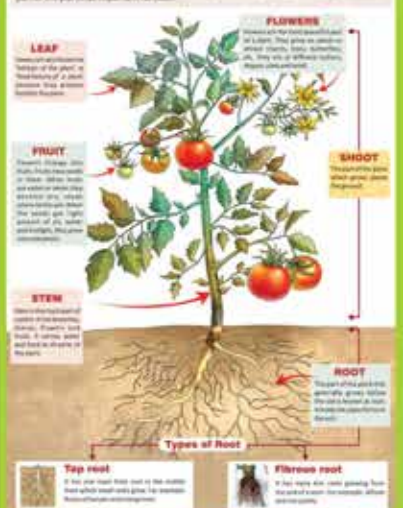

POLLUTION

The harmful substances that pollute air, water and land are called pollutants and the addition of pollutants to the environment is called pollution. There are four types of pollution - Land or Soil Pollution, Air Pollution, Water Pollution and Noise Pollution.

Details about Test Generator

What is a test generator ?

The 'Test Generator' tools empower the teachers to assess the overall impact of their teaching and to evaluate the need-based learning and the outcome. The prime objective is to enable the learner to internalize the core concepts of all subjects.

Our Test Generators (TGs):

- are available from Primary 1 to Senior Secondary School 3.
- cover all subjects from English, Mathematics, Science, Social Science and EVS.
- provide a variety of question patterns such as MCQs, very short questions, short questions, long questions and other objective types.
- Give a free hand to teachers to generate multiple types of question sets.

The teachers can log on to gowebrachnasagar.com. They can log in to the website. Select Board, Class, Book Type, Subject and Book. Click on the Test Generator. You will come across a pool of questions and by selecting them, you are at liberty to create as many question papers as you want. After creating the papers, you have the option to save, print or modify them.
